

Head of the firm's Personal Injury Team, Emma has dealt with hundreds of serious and catastrophic brain, orthopaedic and spinal injury claims.

Emma's primary focus is on those victims who unfortunately sustain a serious injury. Being involved in a serious accident causes devastating changes to people's lives. This situation is very likely to continue for many years imposing major stress on the injured person and their family members.

What I admire the most is the trust that her clients have in her.

An accredited member of the Law Society's Personal Injury Panel and Trustee of Headway Cambridgeshire, Emma is recognised for her experience in representing clients affected by serious injury.

Top Spot for Personal Injury Lawyer

Emma is ranked a top tier Personal Injury Lawyer by both Chambers and the Legal 500.

In their latest rankings, Chambers wrote that Emma attracted warm praise for her work in the personal injury space covering life-changing brain and spinal injury cases. One source comments: "Other than her excellent organisation and communication skills, Emma is incredibly personable," while another adds: "She is a very hard-working, determined and able lawyer."

The Legal 500 views Truin as 'an extremely good litigator, particularly in serious brain injury cases, who is well connected in the local brain injury scene and is thus able to ensure the best advice for her clients'. Truin is also rated for her 'ability to instil confidence and trust in her clients'.

Nothing can fully compensate for the devastating effect of a serious personal injury. But where someone else is to blame, a financial settlement can give all-important recognition of responsibility – and provide the practical means for you to rebuild your life.

Even when the law is on your side, Emma and her team are keenly aware that getting that compensation cheque can be a long, drawn out affair. However, our experienced Personal Injury Team will support you every step of the way.

We have an office at Addenbrooke's Hospital and at Parkside in central Cambridge. Our legal specialists work across both offices seamlessly.
